you talk

What do we offer?

A free confidential service
A safe and private place to talk about whatever is on your mind
A trained listener who will not interrupt, advise or judge you
Opportunities to find your own way forward

Who are the Listeners?

We are ordinary people who have volunteered to help provide this service
We have all undertaken training courses developed by Acorn Healing Foundation
We all hold current clearances to ensure confidentiality and safety

Who do we help?

You can share anything that is on your mind. Nothing is too trivial or too serious
A skilled listener can help you explore the dilemmas you may be facing and help you find a way to deal with them

we listen

Is all this in confidence?

In the vast majority of cases our service is absolutely confidential. However, there are some circumstances where we are required by law to pass information on to a third party. In this unlikely event, we would always discuss it with you first
